Description

Have you ever considered...

Organising a corporate meeting surrounded by dormant volcanoes? A product presentation in the heart of a nature reserve? How about a talk in the absolute silence of the mountains of Garrotxa? An incentive trip focused on sustainability? What about a small conference in a mediaeval town? These are just a few of the options offered by Meetings among Volcanoes, a small but big-thinking project set up in 2007 and involving around 50 local companies in the accommodation, restaurant, catering and tourist activity sectors.

They all form part of the certification programme of the European Charter of Sustainable Tourism and put all their expertise into delivering your events with a personal touch.
